

Logical relationships	Compound sentences use		Complex sentences use
	Simple conjunctions	Transition words	Subordinating conjunctions
Addition	and	additionally also another furthermore in addition moreover
Alternative	nor or	alternatively instead otherwise either...or... neither...nor...
Clarification/rephrasing		especially in essence in other words including namely that is to clarify
Comparison (showing similarities)	and	both likewise similarly	just as
Contrast (showing differences)	but	by comparison by contrast conversely however in comparison in contrast on the contrary on the other hand	whereas while
Concession	yet	however nevertheless nonetheless	although despite the fact that even though in spite of the fact that (NB: despite and in spite are followed by a noun phrase, not a clause)
Condition			if in case provided (that) unless when
Cause/reason	so/for	as a consequence as a result consequently hence therefore thus	if when
Emphasis		as a matter of fact in fact indeed more importantly
Example		for example for instance to illustrate
Summary/conclusion		finally in conclusion in short in summary overall to conclude to sum up
Time/sequence/listing		above all first importantly first and foremost first and most the first...the next then	after before since when while